A.M. SESSION

THE COURT:

From my vantage point, if you want to know, I thought that the video presentation and the technician was of enormous assistance to clearly present the plaintiff's side of the case, and it could have been a lot longer if they hadn't used something of that nature. And I thought it was beneficial to both sides in presenting the various documents.

the video although my recollection is that the video was extremely helpful to the Court and to the jury every day that it was used, not just opening and closing.

I could see us having spent many more days in trial. It was an effective use of presentation and highlighting.

Mr. Brown was very efficient in its use and proceeded speedily. He was really fast. And that's a timesaver. I've done enough trials to know that. All right.
